

End of Life Announcement

September 8, 2017

Products: ptf 3203A GPS Receiver

Introduction

This is an End Of Life (EOL) announcement regarding the status of the above product(s). Due to obsolescence of some key components within the products, these products will be discontinued effective June 30, 2018.

The products will continue to be fully supported for a period of five years following EOL, and further supported as practicable within the limits of component availability for up to 10 years following EOL.

Precise Time and Frequency, LLC will commit to fulfil all orders for the above products placed on or before December 31, 2017. Thereafter, orders will only be accepted provided there are remaining uncommitted components available (excluding those components reserved for ongoing service support).

The recommended replacement for this product is the ptf 3207A which provides equal or better functionality with improved performance.
